AUTOMATION AND ONLINE CATALOG

The Library is taking appropriate steps to computerize the house-keeping operations. The initiative aimed at the retrospective conversion of library collection is in progress. The retrospective conversion is the conversion of the library catalogue from manual to machine readable form according to policies and standards prescribed by the UGC-INFUBNET. The library is fully automated in purchasing, processing and providing the learning resources. Database of library resources has been created and being updated. Koha library management software is being used for maintaining library services. The databases are also available for remote access through OPAC (online Public Access Catalogue).
